IN NEW QUARTERS

POLICE DEPARTMENT AND RECORDER MOVE TO ROOMS IN CITY HALL

For some time past work has been proceeding on the improvements in the city hall, where the old rooms have been altered and renovated and additions have been made. "There can be no doubt," said City Manager Watson, "that the bringing together under one roof of all the departments of the city government is an immense improvement on the old system. In a small city like Glendale it is convenient and possible to have these conditions and we have been working for some time to effect them.

"This work is now finished and the city has now under the same roof all departments of its service with the exception of the fire department which naturally needs a building for itself. The city manager's room which was small and inconvenient has been enlarged by the addition of the room formerly occupied by the building inspector. Mr. Banker, who was formerly condemned to work in a dingy partitioned room with little light has moved his office to the front room, which used to be the assembly room and now has been remodeled into a modern office, where the city clerk and other clerical workers are stationed.

"On the ground floor is the large, well-lighted and appropriately fitted-up room where the public service department has had its quarters for some time. That was the first improvement made and it has made possible the gradual rearranging of the other parts of the building. The new council chamber is a handsome hall, 70x35 feet. It will easily seat 250.

"In the city hall now there are also rooms for police headquarters, consisting of one large room, the chief's headquarters and an anteroom for the patrolmen, with lockers, etc. The main police room opens into the main office room. There is also a room for the milk inspector.

"Judge Whomes will hold court in the new council chamber. It will be well for the public to note that the tax office will now be downstairs in the room formerly occupied by the public service department. The police department and Judges Whomes move into their new quarters Wednesday and next Monday the council will meet for the first time in the new council chamber.

"These new arrangements will go far to make the city's departments more effective. Having new rooms, plenty of light and convenient equipment means more efficiency. It is a good and necessary investment. Just as a workman cannot work without proper tools so a public service force cannot work without proper housing and equipment. In addition it may be said that the bringing together of all the departments under one roof and under one eye will make co-operation more possible than it has hitherto been and will also effect advantageous economies.

HARRY P. COKER HONORED

In connection with the recent Masonic honors conferred on Harry P. Coker, president of the Valley Supply company, he has received a letter this week from the assistant editor of The Bulletin, the official organ of the Consistory, asking him to forward a cut of himself and details of his life's history, for publication in the Bulletin. Mr. Coker is naturally highly gratified by the honor conferred on him. He is a 32nd degree Mason, in the Scottish Rite, and the bestowal on him of the title, K. C. C. H. (Knight of the Court of Honor) is a further step toward the 33d degree, to which eminence very few attain.

MAY RECLAIM MORE ANTELOPE LANDS

The northern slopes of the Sierra Madre range may be the scene of an extensive government reclamation and flood water project, as Congressman Charles H. Randall last week explored that region from Palmdale to the eastern county line with such an idea in mind. He went into Little Rock Creek, Big Rock Creek, Mescal and other water sources of the northern slopes and found ideal conditions for the storage of the flood waters of that section. The lands to be reclaimed in the eastern section of the Antelope valley are capable of producing the finest fruits and agricultural products.

WEATHER FORECAST—Fair tonight and Thursday; southwest winds.

WAR DYE SCARCITY

J. H. FANSET TELLS OF RESULTS OF EUROPEAN SITUATION ON ARTIFICIAL COLORS

Great progress has been made in the use of natural dyestuffs in the textile field within the past few months, according to the experience of Mr. J. H. Fanset of the Fanset Dye Works, 1111 W. Broadway. Mr. Fanset, who has recently been in San Francisco, where he had opportunity to get in tuoch with some of the leading men in his own line has much that is interesting to tell of the situation regarding foreign dyes. There is so much to tell that it is necessary to attempt to tell only a little.

"There has been a serious shortage of coal tar dyes since the war began," said Mr. Fanset. "The shutting up of commerce has caused prices to advance till now they are three times what they were before the war. In many ways the present scarcity will be a blessing to the country. It will stimulate the nation, I hope, to make its own dyes.

"One scarcely realizes what an enormous trade this dyestuff business has been for Germany. Germany furnished 74 per cent of the entire amount used by the world and more than one-half of the materials needed to make the remainder. This industry has been chiefly developed by the inventive power of German chemists combined with a wealth of technical skill and keen business management, scarcely equaled in any other branch of manufacture.

"After the war is over it is probable that Germany will find that she has lost this enormously profitable market. The 21 German companies engaged in the chemical dyestuff manufacture have a nominal capital of more than $550,000,000, on which dividends have averaged 22 per cent. Actual profits have reached 50 per cent. It was the most remunerative industry in the German empire and its loss will mean a very serious injury to that country.

"It is not to be imagined that the United States after the lesson it has received will allow itself any longer to depend on a foreign country entirely for its dyestuffs. It took Germany 50 years to reach the point where it was master in the art of dyestuff manufacture. It had the monopoly of the world's markets and might have retained them indefinitely. Now that is changed. In this country we are rapidly developing the use of natural dyestuffs. Results are being produced in this direction. Firms everywhere are beginning again to take up the use of natural dyestuffs with excellent results. There was always a leaning toward the natural dyestuffs and it is not difficult to get manufacturers to take them up again.

"Meantime it is worth while noting that Pittsburg will soon be equipped to produce a large quantity of coal tar dyes. Arthur L. Pierce, a mining engineer, who has developed a new process for the manufacture of those dyes, says the Pittsburg plant will produce 10,000 pounds a day and that the plant will be operating within a few months.

"This is satisfactory enough. American genius is certainly capable of doing anything German genius has accomplished. It took Germany 50 years to reach the point it had attained before the war. It may take the United States ten years, with the assistance of a strong protective tariff to reach the same point, but this country should be able to get there.

"What the United States needs is a thorough system of technical education in the technical schools. That combined with practical training should develop a number of chemical geniuses who should be able to do more than merely compete with the German chemists in their own line. The one thing that has enabled the German chemists to crush out all opposition in this field has been the cheapness with which they work. American chemists do not work for the low wages for which such skilled work can be secured in Germany.

"As far as has been suggested up to this point there has been no co-operation on the part of the United States government with the manufacturers. In England, on the other hand, the government has provided for the organization of a company contributing $2,000,000 to its capital and granting $500,000 for research. The four American companies are enterprising and have $3,000,000 capital. There is every likelihood that with some government assistance and specially with a protective tariff that they will build up an industry that will make this country independent of Germany in the matter of dyestuffs."

ALL AMENDMENTS ARE DEFEATED

REPORTS FROM ALL PARTS OF STATE INDICATE REJECTION OF NON-PARTISAN BILL BY 20,000

(Special Service to Glendale Evening News)

SACRAMENTO, Oct. 27.—Reports from all parts of the State today indicate that the plurality against the non-partisan amendment will be 20,000 or more. Against the other amendments the pluralities are smaller, but all the eleven amendments are reported beaten. There has been much interest taken in the California elections in the East, as they are looked on as an indication of the future.

COUNTY GOOD ROADS BEATEN 2 TO 1

ADVERSE SENTIMENT TO SPENDING OF MONEY IN HARD TIMES THROWS OUT HIGHWAYS BILL

(Special Service to Glendale Evening News)

LOS ANGELES, Cal., Oct. 27.—Some surprise was expressed here today over the large vote adverse to the County Good Roads amendment. At noon today it appeared as if the amendment had been beaten 2 to 1. Some attribute this to the general revolt observable in the State; others to the reluctance of the county to sanction further expenditure in bad times.

(Special Service to Glendale Evening News)

FRENCH CUT UP GERMANS BADLY

TEUTON ATTACKS ON POSITIONS NEAR LOOS REPULSED WITH GREAT LOSS

(Special Service to Glendale Evening News)

PARIS, Oct. 27.—Repeated attacks made by the Germans, in great force, last night on the French positions near Loos failed signally. The Teutons advanced in successive waves of massed troops, as usual, but were slaughtered pitilessly before they could reach the republican trenches. Attack after attack met with a similar fate. The Teuton losses were extremely heavy.

PROTEST AGAINST BRITISH INTERFERENCE

AMERICAN NOTE RELATIVE TO FREEDOM OF AMERICAN TRADE ON SEAS SENT TODAY

(Special Service to Glendale Evening News)

WASHINGTON, D. C., Oct. 27.—Secretary Lansing, after a great deal of hard work on the preparation of a note to Great Britain relative to American commerce on the high seas, finished the document today. It was approved by the president and was immediately dispatched en route to London by a special messenger. It is understood that the tenor of the note is a strong protest against British interference with the commerce of the United States.

CONVICTED OF VIOLATING NEUTRALITY

SAN FRANCISCO, Oct. 27.—Ralph K. Blair and Dr. Thomas J. Addis were convicted here today of violating American neutrality by conspiring to enlist British recruits.

GARDEN SOCIETY MEETS

FLOWER LOVERS OF GLENDALE AND VICINITY IN ENTHUSIASTIC SESSION

The Glendale Garden Society held a very interesting meeting in the Chamber of Commerce room, 1011 West Broadway, Tuesday evening, at which were present active members of the society and also representatives of the Parent-Teacher association, the Chamber of Commerce and the Tuesday Afternoon club.

Mrs. Nanno Woods, president of the society, presided and upon calling the meeting to order she explained the object of the meeting. She said the time of the regular meeting is the first Thursday of each month and that as the Chamber of Commerce has decided to hold a banquet at the Sanitarium on the date of their next meeting it will be necessary for the society to hold its meeting at the most convenient date other than the date of the banquet. The president stated that George Maxwell of Los Angeles had promised her that he would deliver an address at the next meeting of the society and in considering the date it would be necessary to select a date that would suit him. On motion it was decided to meet Thursday evening, Nov. 18, providing Mr. Maxwell can be present on that date.

The president appointed R. M. Jackson, secretary of the Chamber of Commerce, and Mrs. Ella W. Richardson, a representative of the Parent-Teacher association, as a committee to secure a place in which to meet and also to secure a stereopticon lantern.

Some time was then devoted to a general discussion of the object of the society. Mrs. Ella Richardson of the Pacific avenue school district explained how the Parent-Teachers' association is encouraging the boys and girls to do garden work and that a communication from Congressman Randall assures them that he will furnish flower and vegetable seeds free of charge if the pupils of the school will make appropriate use of them.

M. B. Hartmann called attention to the lack of gardening interest in Glendale and reminded those present that every vacant lot instead of producing weeds should produce flowers or vegetables. He said that cities in the old countries of the population of Glendale have all available ground under the highest state of cultivation.

C. H. Woolsey, who is very much interested in garden and flower culture, said there is a lack of activity in carrying out plans that have been formulated. He said that more than a year ago the City Beautiful association was organized and the members talked about what should be done, but the great trouble is there was nothing much accomplished. He said merely scattering seeds about in the ground will not do much good, it's the careful cultivation of the flowers and vegetables that counts in the end. He thinks that flower shows are a good thing for a city, but the admission fee should always be made as low as possible.

Miss McIntyre, principal of the Casa Verdugo school, told about what she and her pupils are doing in the way of beautifying the school grounds. She said that garbage cans are stationed at different places on the grounds and that pupils are expected to put all scraps of paper and refuse from lunches into those receptacles.

Mrs. C. E. Hutchinson, president of the Federated Parent-Teacher associations, assured the members of the Garden Society that the organization of which she is president will co-operate with the Garden Society because the mission of the Parent-Teacher association is to do all possible for the betterment of Glendale. Mrs. Hutchinson called special attention to the unsightly appearance of the tract of unimproved land on Brand boulevard between Second and Third street. She said the location of this ground is such that it can be viewed by so many strangers passing up and down in the Pacific Electric cars that it is certainly an eyesore.

Col. Lewis Ginger spoke of what he had observed in the way of gardening improving the appearance of Colorado Springs some twenty-five years ago when he resided there. He is very much in favor of having the vacant lots that are now grown up with weeds placed under careful cultivation which will eventually bring about the same results as those noted in the Colorado city.

A. M. Beamon in speaking on the question of promoting garden work said that under the proper organization it would be possible to procure plants and bulbs for planting at a very nominal cost or without any cost whatever as there are instances when plants and bulbs are so plentiful at some homes that they are cast aside when they might be put to good use in other homes. What is needed is to have an interchange of one another's gardening needs.

R. M. Jackson, secretary of the Chamber of Commerce, assured the Garden society that he would do everything within his power to promote the success of the organization and that the Chamber of Commerce room is open to them for meeting purposes at all times.

There is a great need for an active organization of this kind in Glendale and with a leader so capable as Mrs. Woods, the president of the association, the Glendale Garden society is destined to accomplish great good for the community. Miss Collins, secretary of the association, is also enthusiastic in this work and will do her part toward the accomplishment of the purpose of the society.

PRAISE FOR RANDALL

CONGRESSMAN'S HOME DISTRICT APPROVES HIS ACTIVITY IN BRINGING WORK TO COAST

Congressman Randall is a resident of Highland Park, one of the charming suburbs of Los Angeles. His neighbors there think a great deal of his activity and success in bringing work to the Pacific coast. They say that his work never ceases. Whether he is working on rural free deliveries or on shipbuilding contracts he never rests until his object has been accomplished.

Mr. Randall's most recent achievement in this line has been the bringing of a large contract in the shipbuilding line to the Pacific coast. It has long been felt that the shipbuilding interests of Southern California should get a share of government work. The recent decision of the government to build additional submarines gave Mr. Randall his opportunity and he set to work to get some of that work for Los Angeles district.

As a result of Congressman Randall's work a contract amounting to $1,645,000 for the construction of three submarines has been awarded to the California Shipbui'ding company of Long Beach by the United States government. This was the direct result of Mr. Randall's strong position with the cabinet officials. In addition to the main contract for the submarines the Long Beach shipbuilding concern has secured several sub-contracts on other vessels, so that the total amount of work this firm is to do for the government amounts to $3,015,500.

All this work will afford employment to 2000 additional skilled men. It will stimulate Long Beach and its vicinity in a wonderful way. It will also add largely to the prestige of Southern California and probably be the means of securing further recognition at the hands of the government.

Writing to Congressman Randall on this subject, Mr. George H. Bixby, president of the California Shipbuilding company, says: "I appreciate your telegrams to the secretary of the navy, and feel that you will agree with me that the establishment of the plant at Long Beach to be devoted practically exclusively to government work will help to secure the connection between Long Beach and mean so much to the industrial interests of this city. I know your work in the next congress will be interesting and of special service to this district, as well as to the whole country in these times of change at home and turmoil abroad."

GET INTO STATE REGISTER

Names for the register of residents in Glendale according to states from which they came are being received daily. Kansas day is Monday, Nov. 1. There should be a good registration from the Sunflower state. There has been quite an influx of Kansans into Glendale during the past two years and they with former settlers should make a goodly band. Tuesday, November 2, is Nebraska day and the Nebraskans are evidently going to make a good showing, judging from the names already sent in. Michigan is also in line for a fine list. Michigan day is Wednesday, Nov. 3. Kentucky day is Thursday, Nov. 4. Minnesota day, Friday, Nov. 5, and Ohio day Saturday, Nov. 6. Michigan, Kentucky and Ohio should each show a goodly roll of adherents. Send in your names now and get your neighbors from the same state to do likewise or send in the names of all you know who come from the same state.

FRAUDS ON LOCAL MERCHANTS

Just at present the police of Glendale are investigating complaints arising out of the passing of worthless checks on local merchants. These frauds have been of quite frequent occurrence during the past year. One of the issuers of bad checks seems to have been making a business of it and to have escaped with impunity. Naturally the news of this success has gone out over the whole fraternity of crooks and without doubt Glendale is marked down in the register of check passers as a first-class town to work.

There have been instances in which the perpetrators of such frauds have been caught and when it came to a showdown they offered to pay and were let off. Naturally in such a case the immunity gained was telegraphed to the whole colony of confidence men and crooks in Los Angeles, San Francisco and San Diego, gathered in those centers for Exposition work, and when they find themselves in the vicinity of so complaisant a city as Glendale they will undoubtedly take advantage of the fact to "work" so "easy" a community.

There are various methods that might be employed to put an end to such practices. It has been suggested by Chief of Police Herald that when a stranger comes into a local store, purchases an insignificant quantity of goods and offers a goodly-sized check in payment, that the storekeeper should at once make some pretext to get into communication with police headquarters. He might go out with the check on the plea that he had not enough change or make some other excuse. The police are ready to come at any moment when called and if the stranger is honest he will suffer nothing by the investigation.

It has also been suggested that it would be the part of wisdom to make it a rule to cash no checks for unknown parties on Saturdays after banking hours or for that matter on any other day after banking hours. On Saturdays it is easy for a party to get a check cashed and then disappear. He has the whole of Sunday to put some distance between himself and those who want him. With such precautions it should be possible to do business in Glendale without having the better part of a day's profit swept away by a bad check.

WAR AND INFANT MORTALITY

Of recent years the birthrate in all European countries with the exception of Russia has been declining. This has been a matter of economic necessity. In other words the high cost of living everywhere has worked to the creation of small families. Even in Scotland, where families of fifteen and twenty were at one time by no means uncommon and where eight, nine or ten children used to be considered a very natural and easily managed number, the rate has decreased alarmingly.

Now there is a great cry all over Europe for an improvement in these conditions. In Britain, for example, the appalling slaughter of the best men of the nation is raising the question as to what they are to do for children who alone can repair the loss of the military slaughterhouse. The British are asking themselves if the race is to become a set of weaklings after this or what is to be the result. In similar manner Germany, which is credited with having lost 3,000,000 men, is facing a similar question.

France, barely recovered from the losses of the Napoleonic and Franco-Prussian wars, is again sending her best and bravest to death. Even before the war France had been noting an alarming decrease in the matter of births and had adopted all manner of remedies. Since the initiation of the war it has been noted that the birthrate has again suffered a most amazing decrease.

In all countries the remedy is being discussed with a frankness that it is impossible to imitate on this side of the Atlantic. The remedies suggested range all the way from a tax on bachelors to polygamy. Dr. Philip Boothyer, the well-known English medical authority, brought the subject up at a recent meeting of the Royal Sanitary Institute at Brighton. He said that the war had taught the nation a great deal and that he hoped it would also teach them to follow the example of their great enemy by encouraging and fostering the evolution of large families.

Another authority, Dr. Duncan Forbes, after pointing out that the government had taken steps to minimize the infant mortality situation, suggested that it also should take cognizance of the birth-rate situation and should offer inducement to the various classes to raise large families. He suggested an immunity from taxation that would cause fathers and mothers to feel that every new child was not to be a burden on the financial resources of the family.

There are scores of societies in England that are suggesting one remedy after another for this reprehensible state of affairs where the families are being limited to one or two children; but none of them seems to have suggested that if the working people were to get a living wage and be placed in conditions of social comfort that the problem of families would solve itself. It is chiefly because the miserable parents have not enough to live on that they dread the advent of new members to their families.

The problem was old even in the days when Kingsley wrote "Alton Locke," but even then the remedy for the situation escaped the distorted minds of those who control English social development and create English poor. When the law of love, which is the law of God, is observed, the question of population will be solved.

THE MISSION PLAY

Tomorrow afternoon and evening the people of Glendale will go in large numbers to view California's wonderful pageant-drama, the story of the Missions in the historic atmosphere of romantic old San Gabriel. The Mission Play is something entirely unique in the history of the stage unless it be the Passion Play of Oberammergau, to which it is often compared. In this wonderful production, the author, John Stephen McGroarty, has given the world something that takes hold of the heart and leaves an impression that no ordinary production can produce. Those who have visited any of the old Missions of California are immediately in sympathy with the author of this play in his plea for the preservation of these spots that have meant so much in the making of California's history. The Missions of California have no counterpart in the world and that some of them are crumbling to decay is a disgrace to the communities in which they are located.

The Mission Players form a body of Thespians unlike any other company of theatrical people, unless it is the people of the Passion Play. This cast of more than a hundred people is like one big family. Each one is chosen for his or her particular fitness for the part and each one seems to feel and live his part. George Osborne is particularly fitted to impersonate the revered Father Serra and it is with surprise that visitors to the Mission Play learn that Father Serra's white locks are natural and that Mr. Osborne requires no make-up for his part save the donning of the priestly garment. His habitual benignant expression is peculiarly fitting for the part which he portrays.

Those who view this pageant-drama also feel that nowhere could be found a lady to take so well the part portrayed by Miss Lucrecia del Valle, a charming Spanish girl and a devout Catholic, who feels all that the author of the Mission Play makes her say. Other members of the cast are equally well chosen and the whole production, after nearly a year's run, has had all the edges smoothed off and is as near perfection in every sense as it is possible to have it.

All residents and visitors to the Golden State who miss seeing this production should feel that they have neglected a duty to themselves. Many Glendale people have already signified their intention of taking advantage of tomorrow's opportunity to see the Mission Play.

The voters of the state of California had their say again yesterday, and spoke in terms of authority against all of the proposed amendments.

---

That San Diego has decided to continue the exposition during 1916 is an indication of the spirit of progress which made the fair possible in the first place. It is entirely fitting that this fair, which is unique among expositions, should be kept open to the public next year in order to give more people an opportunity to visit it and to give those who have already seen it a chance to view its beauties again.

SCHOOL AND CAMPUS

COMING EVENTS, CLUBS, DEBATES AND ATHLETICS AT UNION HIGH

Last Thursday Mr. Taylor took about half of his chemistry students to visit the Los Angeles Creamery. Mr. Moyse's brother, who owns the creamery, was very kind in showing the students the buildings and apparatus. Mr. Taylor is planning to take the rest of the chemistry people in tomorrow.

"Stylus" Staff Meeting

Exchange editor, Aldine Norton.
Literary editor, Rebecca Gregg.
Assistant literary editor—Dorothy Cloud.
Joke editor, Kathryne Green.
Athletic editor, Robert Kolts.

The staff are very enthusiastic about their work and say that 1916 will publish a masterpiece, something to rank with the classics.

Sock and Buskin Club

One of the new organizations of the year is the Sock and Buskin club, a dramatic society. The members of the club are the liveliest and most wide awake students of the school and the organization promises to be one great success. Miss Terry, head of the oral expression department, is greatly interested in the work and has consented to be the coach. The club will afford a great deal of pleasure and inumerable benefits to its members. A little Hallowe'en play, "The Haunted Gate," will be presented before the club members a week from today. William Bode, the president, in speaking of the club, was heard to remark most eloquently "It sure is some swell bunch." And it is.

Debates

The preliminary interclass debates will take place today at 2:15. The final championship debate will be held Friday morning at 9 o'clock during the assembly period. Every one, from scrub to faculty, is becoming curious as to what two teams will be eliminated today. The latest report is that Mr. Root thinks that the scrubs have a fair chance for the championship. Now could you imagine 1919 on the banner below that noble 1916?

The interscholastic league debate will be upon the subject, 'Ship Subsidies." Glendale will meet South Pasadena and Santa Monica on Nov. 19. The final question will be sent from Berkeley Nov. 12. Many of our debators have been reading on the question for over a month. It is said that Sam Durand has every congressional Record bearing upon the subject thoroughly memorized. We surely have reason to expect a victory from our teams.

Senior Dance

The first class dance of the year will be given Saturday night, Hallowe'en, at the Masonic hall. The seniors guarantee good music, a good floor and a good crowd. What more is needed for a good time?

Student Body Meeting

The regular meeting of the student body was held last Friday morning. Class yells were roared loud enough to be heard three blocks away. If school yells were given as loud as all the class yells put together we would have something that every member of the student body could be proud of. Several bills were brought up. Most of them were interpreted as class legislation and heated discussions naturally followed. Students are just beginning to realize that Glendale has too much class spirit and too little school spirit. A small amount of class feeling stimulates school spirit, but too much feeling kills school spirit. Most of the disorder and trouble in the assembly arises from the fact that the Juniors are seated so near the Seniors that they are not able to resist the inclination to exchange courtesies and other signs of friendly and brotherly love. This must be altered, however. These two classes must be forced to curb their display of affection during the short assembly period.

Juniors Win Tennis

The interclass tennis matches attracted a great crowd during the past week. The results of the matches were that the Juniors won the championship and lost their tennis balls. The Scrubs won second and the Sophs third. The Seniors took fourth place with the Junior tennis balls.

CROPS TOO BIG FOR SUPPLY OF CARS

Bumper crops in California are causing serious car shortage on the Pacific coast and every facility of the Southern Pacific, Western Pacific, Santa Fe, Salt Lake and other railroads is being strained to the utmost in the effort to take care of the heavy freight traffic.

"The situation is caused by unprecedented crop conditions in California and the middle west," explained one freight traffic official here today. "None of the roads lack equipment, but the demand exceeds the supply."

Every line of agriculture, stock-raising and manufacturing industry is demanding cars. Beets, grapes, canned goods, dried fruits, hay, wool, alfalfa, grain and raisins are only a few of the products being shipped in trainload lots.

And with similar conditions obtaining in Oregon and Washington the pinch is all the more keenly felt by shippers and railroad men alike.

TIMOROUS PROTEST

"I don't know that I want to be nominated for mayor of this town. said the cautious citizen. "The job doesn't seem lucky."

"But the office sometimes seeks the man."

LECTURE ON CIVICS

Those interested in municipal government will have an opportunity to listen to an excellent exposition of that subject Thursday afternoon at 3:30, when Mr. Frederick Baker will speak on "Various Forms of Municipal Government" in the Intermediate school. The public—men as well as women—non-club members as well as club members are cordially invited to attend. Mr. Baker is an expert in the theory of municipal government. This is the first of the open meetings, which will be held once a month as part of the work of the new Political Science and Civics section of the Tuesday Afternoon club.

Preceding Mr. Baker's address the study hour of the section will be held at the home of Mrs. A. L. Weaver, 235 S. Kenwood, at 2 p. m. The program will consist of two papers, one by the curator, Mrs. Mattison B. There are no dues in this section.

Entire freedom from Colds and Grippe

Did you ever wonder why people seldom have colds or grippe in summer

There are just as many drafts—just as frequent changes in temperature then. And these are what cause colds and influenza.

But not when you are well or when you can exercise freely in the open air and sunshine of outdoors and have every window wide open when you sleep.

In winter this is impossible. Bad weather cuts down exercise. The windows are closed. The life is burned out of the air we breathe, by stove or furnace. And we get "run down" and "out of sorts" and in just the condition to quickly take cold or grippe or other disease and have it hard.

If we could live all year in summer conditions we need never fear these dreaded troubles. Sunshine and the oxygen of outdoors is the best precaution.

The next best thing is to get a bottle of

No. 170

It is simply wonderful how you begin to feel brighter, better, more cheerful—how much easier it is to laugh—almost from the first spoonful.

No. 170 does all of this.

Get a bottle today and begin to feel younger tomorrow.

SONG BIRDS ENTERTAIN CLUB

The Robinette club quartet in costume recital formed a pleasing picture and furnished a most charming entertainment for the ladies of the Tuesday Afternoon club at their regular meeting yesterday.

In the first numbers, "A Red, Red Rose" and "Love's Old Sweet Song," the young ladies were gowned in dainty pink costumes in quaint empire style with chiffon fischus and a little touch of black. Powdered hair and saucy black patches completed the charmimng picture.

Miss Viola Yorba as a petite Spanish senorita gave most effectively La Golandrina, followed by an encore. She wore a Spanish costume resplendent with yellow and black velvet embroidered in gold.

Mrs. Gladys Gibbs Sherman as the Little Damoselle wore a Shepherdess costume. A purple bodice, lavender paniers and a picture hat were features of this pleasing costume.

Misses Lillian Mills, Viola Yorba and Zetie Steel Duncan in a picture from Real Life rendered a pleasing bit of humor. These saucy, charming young women were over particular in their selections and turned away all who came awooing. The moral was cleverly brought out when these ladies turned about and displayed a complete transformation with sour, disappointed faces and a doleful song of repentance.

Miss Zetie Steele Duncan in "To My First Love" caused a reminiscent look on a few of the faces of her audience. She appeared in a yellow and pink flowered costume, with old-fashioned hoop skirts and pantalettes and a dainty yellow parasol.

Mrs. Sherman's reading in darky dialect was warmly applauded, and nursery rhymes with modern interpretation by the quartet completed a much appreciated program. Following this dainty refreshments added to the pleasure of the social hour.

The following announcements were made:

The Literary section will meet with Mrs. Hutchinson, 200 Orange street, Tuesday afternoon at 2:30.

The Shakespeare section will meet with Mrs. Evans, 113 Orange street, Monday afternoon at 2 o'clock.

The Political Science section will meet with Mrs. Weaver, 235 Kenwood street, Thursday afternoon.

It is always a good plan to listen to suggestions, but it is not always a good plan to adopt them.

TO SEE MISSION PLAY

Glendale day at the Mission play at San Gabriel is tomorrow. Already a large and representative crowd has arranged to go. The trains will leave Glendale Pacific Electric station at 1 p. m. and at 7 p. m. Returning they will leave the Mission play house immediately after each performance.

Glendale's municipal band will accompany the trip in the evening and will make the journey pleasant by discoursing merry music. Much enthusiasm is being displayed over the trip, which whether taken in the afternoon or the evening is certain to prove interesting while the play itself, as every one knows, is charming.

Every one should take advantage of this opportunity to see the play. Even if one has seen it already it is worth while seeing again and there has been a constant improvement in the play itself and its setting that make it much more interesting than it has been. The play is going on its round-the-world trip in a few weeks and this will probably be the last opportunity the people of Glendale will have to see the play for many years to come. Tickets for the play and the trip can be obtained at Roberts & Echols drug store or at the Glendale Book Store, 576 Broadway.

50 bolts Outing Flannel on sale, all new patterns, at the Broadway. R. L. Hendricks, Prop., Glendale.

TROPICO

Mr. and Mrs. Percy Priaulx of Park avenue leave Sunday for San Francisco, where they will spend two weeks seeing the fair.

Mr. and Mrs. Harry Bowman are now established in their new home at 111 W. Tropico avenue.

At the monthly meeting of the Home Missionary society yesterday work for the new year was taken up with a will. As proof of the progress made by this organization recently is the announcement made that a "Mother's Jewels" society will be organized immediately. This is the children's branch of the Woman's Home Missionary society and Mrs. M. M. Cole, who so successfully directed this work some years ago will be in charge.

Mr. and Mrs. Hal Davenport and Mr. and Mrs. L. T. Gaarder motored into Los Angeles the other evening where they were the guests of the F. T. Valentines.

Mrs. S. P. Pollock entertained a group of friends last evening in honor of Mrs. J. C. Fishback of Los Angeles and Mrs. E. Bathrick. Earlier in the evening Mrs. Fishback and Mrs. Bathrick were the guests of Mrs. Myra Shuey at a beautifully appointed dinner.

Among the many Tropico people enjoying the San Francisco fair this week are Mr. and Mrs. C. W. Kimberly of San Fernando and Mira Loma street.

The Hallowe'en spirit was abroad and ghosts and witches held full sway at the Epworth league social on Monday night. The social hall of the Methodist church had been transformed by the social committee into a veritable witches' abode. Straw covered the floor and branches of autumn foliage and corn stalks were effectively arranged about the rooms. Grinning jack o'lanterns shed a dim uncertain light, which combined with the unique costumes worn and the hideous shrieks of the "spirits" which greeted the coming of each guest lent an atmosphere of wierdness to the whole affair. It was surely a young people's gathering, they being in the large majority, and enjoyed the evening immensely.

The Misses Anna and Elsie Anderson of Virginia place have been very busy the past week renewing acquaintances among the delegates to the National Home Missionary convention. Mrs. Bishop Thirkield, national president, and Mrs. Ida Leonard Woodruff, national corresponding secretary, stopping here en route to the east from Seattle. This coming week Mrs. Dr. R. L. Thomas of Cincinnati national corresponding secretary of the Foreign Missionary society, will be their guest.

The serious illness of Mrs. J. W. Brown of Glendale avenue, who has been threatened with pneumonia, is causing much anxiety among her friends.

Men's 75c extra quality shirts, all sizes, 50c. Broadway, R. L. Hendricks, Prop., Glendale.

HALLOWE'EN SOCIAL

Among the Hallowe'en parties to be held this week will be a specially pleasing entertainment to be given by the local W. C. T. U. Thursday evening, Oct. 28, at the home of Mrs. W. A. Burns, 16 Piedmont Park, near the head of Adams street. There will be a wiener roast, with the usual Hallowe'en refreshments. Everybody is invited.

AUTO CASE POSTPONED

When the case of Mrs. Mattison B. Jones, who is charged with an alleged violation of the traffic ordinance, No. 222, was called in Judge Whomes court this morning Mr. Mattison B. Jones appeared for Mrs. Jones and stated that she had understood that the case had been dropped. Judge Whomes postponed the hearing until Thursday morning at 8 a. m.

EAGLE ROCK

A letter from President Wilson, through Secretary Tumulty, was received one day last week by the Eagle Rock Boy Scouts, in response to the petition sent by them urging the president to come west for a visit. The letter, addressed to Mr. Rollin McNutt of this town, was as follows:

"The president received your kind letter October 7 with its enclosed petition and has requested me to thank you cordially for the invitation which you extend to him. He fears, however, that it will not be possible for him to undertake a visit to the Pacific coast at this time. He asks me to urge you and all concerned of his deep appreciation of your kindness. TUMULTY."
